Current Research:

Since 1996, working with the assistance of immediate past Dean Christopher Edley and former Dean Herma Hill Kay of Boalt Hall, I have conducted survey and qualitative research among women law students and Boalt Hall graduates, recording and evaluating their experiences and perspective. This work has been combined with research, study and analysis designed to examine and assess the impact of the increased number of women in law on legal education, on the practice of law and on society. Articles for the California Women's Law Journal, the Boalt Hall Alumni Quarterly and a book are in process.
